

Division of Inorganic Chemistry (DIC) – American Chemical Society (ACS)
Student Travel Award Program Application form

National ACS meeting for which you would like your application to be considered
Name of the applicant
Email of the applicant
ACS Membership number of the applicant
Current affiliation
Mailing address of the applicant
Degree being pursued and year you began this degree program
Title of the presentation
Name of the Symposium/Session in INOR where the presentation will be made

Type of presentation

Poster:

Oral:

Name of the research advisor
Name of the institution where the research was conducted
Have you received a DIC travel grant in the past? If yes, for what meeting? (Provide year and location).

of posters you have presented at national ACS meetings on your undergraduate work?

of posters you have presented at national ACS meetings on your graduate work?

of talks you have presented at national ACS meetings on your undergraduate work?

of talks you have presented at national ACS meetings on your graduate work?

Are you the presenting author of the paper under consideration for this travel award? Yes No

(Please note: only presenting authors are eligible for travel funds)

The following documents should follow this form:

- 1) A proof of your current ACS and DIC membership status, such as a copy of your receipt or a printout of “My Account” from acs.org showing your active divisional membership in DIC (you must log on to access this).
- 2) An abstract of the work to be presented in the DIC program with authors and affiliations listed and presenting author underlined.
- 3) A resume or CV, including a list of publications and presentations.
- 4) A recommendation letter from your research advisor (if your advisor prefers this to remain confidential, please have him/her, or a third party, submit the application on your behalf)